Field of Idaho Alfalfa

Alfalfa

COSSACK ALFALFA

Cossack is one of the hardest and best drouth and frost resisting alfalfas.

Cossack has a double root system, the branch root as well as the deep tap root, making it both a frost and drouth resister. The crowns are very large and set low in the ground, throwing out from 150 to 300 shoots. It is a heavy producer of good quality hay of fine stems and many leaves.

State Certified Blue Tag Cossack Alfalfa. Write for prices.

Other grades of Cossack Alfalfa. Write for prices and samples.

GRIMM ALFALFA

This strain is distinguished from common alfalfa by its branching root system and is particularly adapted to sections where the soil has a tendency to freeze and heave. On such soils the branching roots hold the ground better than the common alfalfa, which has a deep tap root. Grimm alfalfa has a larger crown, producing more shoots than common, which makes it a better quality of hay.

State Certified Blue Tag Grimm Alfalfa. Write for prices.

Other grades of Grimm Alfalfa. Write for prices and samples.

COMMON ALFALFA

Common Alfalfa needs no introduction. The seed of this section is produced at a high elevation and is as hardy as can be obtained from any source. It will show the best results wherever sown.

Fancy Common Alfalfa. Write for prices and samples.

Choice Common Alfalfa. Write for prices and samples.

Other grades of Common Alfalfa and Alfalfa mixtures. Write for prices and samples.

Clovers

This crop is grown here chiefly for the seed, although it makes a wonderful hay crop. Clover is growing in popularity as a hay and pasture crop in some of our mountain valleys and on higher elevations. The clovers are also very valuable to mix with other grasses, for both hay and pasture.

MEDIUM RED OR JUNE CLOVER

This is the standard strain of clover grown in all sections for hay and pasture purposes. We always carry a special high quality, high purity strain of Red Clover seed to sow for seed production. We can also supply you with good quality grades for hay purposes, showing slight mixtures of other clovers or alfalfa, at lower prices.

Fancy Medium Red or June Clover. Write for prices and samples.

Other grades of Medium Red or June Clover and mixtures suitable for hay or pastures. Write for prices and samples.

Field of Medium Red or June Clover

ALSIKE OR SWEDISH CLOVER

This is one of the hardiest varieties known. It will do better in moist land than any other variety of clover and is suitable for either hay or pasture. When sown with other grasses it forms a thick undergrowth and greatly increases the yield.

Fancy Alsike Clover. Write for prices and samples.

SWEET CLOVER

A wonderful pasture and fertilizer plant. It makes a good, quick pasture that will carry the maximum number of animals. Sweet clover is a good drouth resister. But should be sown on dry land in very early spring or late fall. On irrigated lands it can be sown most any time during spring or summer. Sow 15 to 20 pounds per acre for pasture purposes. Grows well on all soils.

WHITE BLOSSOM SWEET CLOVER

A hardy biennial plant growing to a height of from 5 to 6 feet. Starts early in the spring and grows rapidly throughout the season. The heaviest producing strain of sweet clover and the best to sow for fertilizing purposes.

Fancy White Blossom Sweet Clover. Write for prices and samples.

YELLOW BLOSSOM SWEET CLOVER

Similar to the white blossom strain except in color of blossom, but does not grow so tall and stems and leaves are finer. A wonderful pasture plant; all animals eat it freely and thrive on it. A biennial like the white, it lasts two seasons.

Fancy Yellow Blossom Sweet Clover. Write for prices and samples.

STRAWBERRY CLOVER

Pasture GrassesKENTUCKY BLUE GRASS

Kentucky Blue Grass

One of the best pasture grasses. Is adapted to a wide range of soils and conditions. One of the earliest to start in the spring, and grows well late in the fall. Kentucky Blue Grass should be in every permanent mixture. Used extensively as a lawn grass due to its close growing habits and fine color.

MEADOW FESCUE

A very hardy drouth resisting grass. Yields heavy crops and makes abundance of pasture. We particularly recommend Brome Grass to be sown on high dry lands. Sow 15 to 20 pounds per acre broadcast. Can be sown at any time of year, but perhaps the best time is in early spring.

ENGLISH OR PERENNIAL RYE GRASS

This is one of the very finest pasture grasses. Used very extensively in the British Isles. The name Rye would indicate a tall, coarse grass, but the contrary is true. CRESTED WHEAT GRASS

This hardy, perennial, drouth resisting grass has made a very remarkable showing, where many other varieties have failed under dry, arid conditions.

It withstands drouth and the cold winters and is the first to become green in the spring and the last to dry out in the fall. It is one of the best grasses for pasture or hay in the semi-arid sections. Sow 10 pounds per acre for pasture or hay.

Sowing Instructions for Grasses

If the land has been recently plowed it should be worked down firm before sowing, always sow on a well settled seed bed. Old clover, alfalfa, beet or bean fields make good seed beds for grasses. Do not plow or disc such land; smooth it out with a spike-tooth harrow and firm it with a good packing tool, then sow the seed.

Sow all grass seed shallow. Broadcast seed on top of the ground and harrow in lightly. Grass seed will not germinate if sown too deep. Grass seeds require plenty of moisture when first sown to insure a good stand.

OUR RE-CLEANED GRAINS MEAN HIGHER YIELDS
